

Women form half the population and 54% of the voters in the country , yet are very poorly represented in parliament .