

In October , however , amid rising tensions between the government and opposition groups , a car bomb seriously injured an opposition politician and killed his driver , in Beirut .