

The number of Gulf War veterans who suffer from Gulf War illness is difficult to grasp . Robinson and other advocates say they believe that many of the 330,000 Gulf War veterans who have sought medical treatment from the VA since the war , and 179,000 who are collecting some level of disability benefits , are suffering from one or more of the symptoms .