

pair455_T_s2.dot:

The curious Belgian compromise over the weed has some logic , even for a country which says it wants to reduce drug use . Surveys show that as many as 40 percent of the country 's 10 million population has experienced cannabis and with the Dutch border an hour away for most of the population , some liberalisation seems inevitable .