

For Bechtolsheim , who designed the prototype for the first Sun workstation while he was a Birkenstock - shod Stanford University graduate student in 1982 , the new line of computers , code named Galaxy , is a return to the company 's roots .